2 NEAR DEATH; ELEVATOR MAKES SIX-STORY PLUNGE

Two men narrowly escaped death today when a freight elevator dropped from the sixth floor to the basement of the S. S. Pierce Company's warehouse at Milk and Sears streets.

The injured are John Maloney, 42 years old, foreman of the loft department, No. 6 Huckins street, Roxbury, and T. J. Finnegan, 37 years old, elevator operator, No. 208 Heath street, Roxbury.

Failure of the automatic governor which brings the elevator to a stop at the basement is believed to have been the cause of the accident.

Maloney had loaded a case on the elevator at the sixth floor and stepped on the car.

ARREST OF FIGHT PICTURES EXHIBITORS IS THREATENED

Chicago, July 5.—Reports that moving pictures of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby were en route to Chicago by airplane led to the announcement by United States District Attorney Edwin A. Olson that exhibitors who attempt to show them will be arrested.

It was reported that a prominent moving picture news agency was shipping the films to a Chicago exhibitor to exhibit them today. At the district attorney's office it was stated that the exhibitor in two previous cases had been fined $1,000 by the Federal authorities, but continued to show the fight pictures without further interference from the Federal or city officials.

STATE POLICE HUNT FIREBUG; TWO BUILDINGS DESTROYED

Clinton, July 5.—Two incendiary fires that destroyed State property in Lancaster today caused the authorities to ask the aid of State police in searching for the firebug. The first destroyed a frame office building at the Clinton sewage filtration plant. That fire was scarcely out when a phone message to the office of the Lancaster State Industrial School for Girls told the officials one of the State-owned barns, located some distance from the school buildings, was in flames. It was destroyed.

DEMPSEY SEEKS NEW FIGHT

Conqueror of Gibbons After Winner of the Willard-Firpo Bout

New York, July 4 (A.P.)—Tex Rickard announced today he would start negotiations at once to match Jack Dempsey with the winner of the Luis Firpo-Jess Willard bout for a world's title fight, probably at Boyle's Thirty-Acres, in September or October. Willard and Firpo will battle July 12.

By WARREN W. BROWN.

Shelby, Mont., July 5.—Jack Dempsey was given the decision here, when after fifteen rounds of good, bad and indifferent fighting with Tommy Gibbons, the champion saved his title, but lost his "rep" as a superman—one who could batter through any sort of defense his smaller opponent might offer, who could call the round in which he would knock over the challenger.

Dempsey did none of these things, and some explanation is therefore in order. At this time, we can offer nothing better than a few items of comment as the fight wore on.

At the end of the fifth round Dan McKetrick, a member of the Dempsey-Kearns combine, leaned over in to the press box, and announced "the champ ain't fighting."

At the end of the tenth, a skeptic in the nearby seats piped up "this makes the fight pictures worth some dough."

At the end of the twelfth a newspaper man, in the press box, remarked "I'll bet Dempsey is sorry he didn't take that $100,000 guarantee for the movies."

'SURPRISE' IN PHONE STRIKE

Labor Leaders Hint Drastic Action at Friday Night Mass Meeting

Male employes of the New England Telephone Company who are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor today promised to spring a big surprise at the strikers' mass meeting in Tremont Temple tomorrow evening.

That it will be a shock to those who think the strike of switchboard operators is over is all that could be wrung from union leaders today.

P. Harry Jennings of the Boston Central Labor Union today called at headquarters of the striking operatives and invited them to send representatives to the special meeting of the Central Labor Union early tomorrow evening at the Franklin Union.

He declined to say why the operators should be represented at the meeting, but admitted it would be of "special interest to them."

The fact that the meeting is a special one, and that the switchboard strike is the only labor question in the city important enough to warrant the calling of such a meeting, indicates that the Central Labor body has something to do with the promised "big surprise."

Committees of various Telephone Workers' locals spent the Fourth on secret missions.

That Edward F. McGrady, who has been imported from Pittsburgh to handle the strike, has been busy since he arrived in Boston is indicated by developments.

McGrady is a former president of the Boston Central Labor Union and is well known in labor circles here. It is generally conceded that he has put new life into the strike, regardless of what final result may be, and new hope into the ranks of the strikers.

In Lawrence, where the strike has

MOB THREAT FOR HEAD OF TUSKEGEE

New York, July 5.—Declaring the lives of R. R. Moton, president of Tuskegee Institute, and of negro surgeons at the United States Veterans' Hospital at Tuskegee, Ala., had been threatened by masked mobs, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today wired President Harding urging that he send Federal troops to protect them.

The telegram read:

"National Association for Advancement of Colored People, representing 100,000 American citizens, asks that federal troops be sent to Tuskegee, Ala., to protect colored doctors sent to United States Veterans' Hospital to care for negro World War veterans.

"Lives of these United States doctors and security of Tuskegee Institute have been threatened by masked mobs. Tuskegee Institute, an internationally known agency, making for inter-racial good will, should have protection against lawless defiance of government.

"We urge especially federal protection for R. R. Moton, successor to Booker T. Washington whose life has been threatened."

Her mother, Mrs. Lillian Gardner, has severe burns about the face and arms. She attempted today to extinguish a fire which enveloped the girl after her clothing had caught fire. Joanne was playing with matches in the rear of the Gardner home at No. 14 Virginia Terace when her dress caught fire.

BOSTON SOCIETY WOMAN SEES BATTLE AT SHELBY

Boston society was represented at the Shelby fight by Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Amory of Beverly Farms. They were guests of Mrs. Raymond T. Baker, formerly Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt. Other members of the Baker party who journeyed to the Montana town in a special car were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Catford, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Slater of New York.

Mr. Amory is a brother of Francis Amory of No. 73 Beacon street. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Inman Amory. Mrs. Amory is one of the famous Munn sisters. Before her marriage to Mr. Amory in 1913 she was Miss Gladys Munn of Washington.

Read Ousted for Alleged Emasculation of Fourth of July Declaration

Mayor Curley today removed from office Charles F. Read, historical adviser of public celebrations for the city of Boston, and in a letter to the president of the Bostonian Society asked that a drastic investigation be made of Read's conduct in handing a school boy orator a deleted copy of the Declaration of Independence in the city's official Fourth of July exercises.

Mayor Curley charges that Read's action was pro-British, the deleted part of the famous document containing the colonies' indictment

HOLD ELEVATOR OPERATOR FOR DEATH

Abraham Margolis, 18-year-old operator of the elevator in the Carney Building on Tremont street where Mrs. Julia Murphy of South Boston was crushed to death, was held in $1,000 bail for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by Judge Parmenter today. The judge censured the owners and agents of the building for allowing a young and inexperienced operator to have charge of the elevator. Margolis claimed that Walter Foley, a messenger boy, grasped the control and started the car as Mrs. Murphy stepped in.

LABOR CHIEFS HINT AT "BIG SURPRISE" IN TELEPHONE STRIKE

proved to be more effective than members in New England, the telephone company today announced an increase of service. Thirteen more "emergency" service lines were ordered by the new operators who replaced the strikebreakers.

The company officials said today that, following a meeting of full supervisors on part of Lawrence-Boston business, service will be given today to all strictly business calls.

There have been no desertions from the ranks of the strikers, and the increased service will probably be rendered by strikebreakers.

It is significant that the company, in announcing the new service, declared that the resumption of service will "test the quality of union operation that has been accorded to local operators."

Telephone Company Reports Progress

The New England Telephone company issued the following statement regarding strike conditions today:

Switchboard had 38 additional operators on duty this morning, but only 85 places to be filled.

Worcester had an additional two operators on duty and now has only 87 of its normal force.

Lawrence opened up this morning with 28 women operators at the board in addition to the small group of traffic men who have been giving emergency service up to the present time.

The recruiting campaign of the company is going steadily forward. The management offices at 50 Oliver street was crowded with applicants this morning, and new operators were being put to work at a number of offices throughout the affected districts.

At 1 o'clock eight new operators were added to the force this morning, two of them girls who went out on strike a week ago.

Beverly's quota is now full, one former striking operator having returned this morning.

In the suburban district the force has been recruited practically up to normal. Myrtle being almost the sole exception, with five working to make a normal quota.

A telephone and former striking operators returned and at Roxbury office.

Dorchester lacked only forty-one of normal quota at 9 o'clock this morning.

ACTRESS TELLS OF HUSBAND'S BEATINGS

cording to the testimony, apparently much more bloody than the battle yesterday between Dempsey and Gibbons. Miss Barrymore, according to the testimony, was on the receiving end of all casualties.

Along the way to the final Russell Colt case her in the years of their married life were black eyes and badly bruised cheeks and lips, her testimony showed.

TERRIBLE BEATING.

Standing out above all the stories of abuse was the tale of a beating given the beautiful actress by her husband in April of 1926. That beating she testified, caused the closing of the theatre doors of the play in which she was starring for a period of five days. It was the straw that broke the camel's back, as it were, since then the actress and her millionaire husband have not lived together.

"I was up in my room one evening after the performance," testified Miss Barrymore. "My husband came up and we started discussing certain persons. I made a particularly unfortunate remark about a certain person.

"He was enraged at the remark and struck me on the face with something he held in his hand. He hit me again and again. He beat me terribly. Then he left the room.

KEPT IN ROOM 5 DAYS.

"I was in such a terrible condition that I had to send for a physician. The physician attempted to fix my face, but I could not get out of my room for five days because of the swollen conditions of my face and because of my two black eyes. I was confined to my bed part of the time."

It was just six months after Ethel and her husband were married that the beatings started, she said. That first assault gave Ethel a black eye which had to be done up in raw meat. "So I could go on the stage for my next performance," she testified.

"It was late at night. I was in my room at the hotel waiting for my husband. When he came up to the room I asked him why he was so late. Thereupon he struck me in the face with his fist," testified the actress. "No, I do not know why he did it. He never told me. I had to do the best I could."

THROWN OUT OF ROOM.

That assault occurred in 1909. The Colts had hardly emerged from the honeymoon stage at that time, and Ethel started that she was surprised at the attack by her husband.

Again in 1912 Miss Barrymore said her husband beat her. That time he not only beat her, but threw her out of their room in the hotel and left her locked outside the room dressed in nothing but her night gown.

"I had to send to the office and secure another room in which to pass the night," testified the actress. "I had nothing with me but the nightgown I was wearing."

Miss Barrymore testified that she had been beaten so many times by her husband that she could not count them and certainly could not recall each incident. "He beat me so much I can't tell you how often," she testified.

NEVER GAVE HER A CENT.

Hand in hand with the testimony regarding the cruelty was a story of non-support that would put the blush of shame on the cheek of any ordinary workingman. According to Miss Barrymore, her husband though receiving $500 a week allowance from his father and $1,000 a month drawing account from the New York brokerage house he was with, did not pay a single penny toward the support of his wife or his children until 1926, when they separated.

At the time of the separation she testified, Colt made a settlement which he "forgot" after paying her a total of $1,000. In other words, Russell Colt, according to his wife's testimony, although heir to millions, paid only $1,000 in a space of four years for the keep and care of his wife and his three children.

SHE PAID THE BILLS.

Miss Barrymore testified that she not only paid the rent for her various homes even since she was married, but she paid the expense of her three children, that she paid for the education of her children in boarding schools. She testified that she furnished her own apartment even when her husband would come there to live with her.

"My husband did provide me with a 'manicure,'" testified Miss Barrymore. "I provided the automobile out of my own money."

BURGLAR IS ROUTED BY WOMAN

Brookline Intruder Foiled, and Augmented Police Seek Him for Many Breaks

A score of detectives were added to the police force in Brookline today to quell a burglar scare and capture a man believed to be responsible for several breaks and attempted breaks within the last week.

Several apartment houses have been entered and burglaries committed, and the police left it ask to get trace of the thief or thieves.

Today, however, detectives were armed with a thorough description of the man, believed wanted, by a woman whose presence of mind prevented a break over the Fourth.

She is Mrs. F. C. Heney, occupying the second floor at No. 49 St. Mary's street, Longwood. Upstairs lives Mrs. Mary C. Tannenholz and family. They are out of the city for the Summer.

MAN LEAPS AT HER.

Late Wednesday Mrs. Heney heard a noise in the front hall. She investigated. Opening her apartment door, she called out. A man replied. She looked. In his hand was a jimmy and he was half way up the stairs leading to the upper apartment.

"What do you want?" asked Mrs. Heney.

"I'm a nephew of the Tannenholzes," was the reply.

"Oh, no you aren't," was Mrs. Heney's answer.

"I ain't eh?"

The man leaped at her.

She closed and double locked the door and ran to the telephone.

SCALES FENCES.

After notifying the police she hurried to a back window. Scaling fences was the recent caller. He is described as about twenty-two years old, well dressed, but decidedly marked with saffron colored skin.

Police believe h eis responsible for recent breaks in apartments at No. 66 Marshall street, Alton place and several others in Brookline whose addresses police have refused to divulge.

Duck Is an Animal; Judge Imposes Cruelty Fine

Washington, July 5.—For some days the Washington police have been trying to answer the question, "Is a duck an animal and if Roland Thomas, the driver of a delivery wagon, did pack a duck, breast downward on a block of ice with her back exposed to the broiling sun, was he guilty of violating the District of Columbia laws against cruelty to animals?"

Judge McMahon of the United States branch of the Police Court held that a duck is an animal and Thomas was found guilty of a cruelty charge preferred by Mrs. Franklin Clark and fined $5.

Making the accusation, Mrs. Clark described the duck as "an animal" and Thomas' attorney argued that a duck was not.

R. C. SCOTT, SCENARIO WRITER, A SUICIDE

Los Angeles, July 5.—Robert Cromier Scott, playwright and scenario writer, was found dead in his room, his throat having been cut. The police pronounced it a case of suicide and said they found papers showing that Scott's wife had filed a suit for divorce.

NEW TROOPS AT SYDNEY; STEEL STRIKE CRISIS

Sydney, N. S., July 5.—With special trains bringing additional detachments from at least two military centres in the west, and reinforcements for the special provincial foot and mounted police being recruited, the steel and coal workers' strike in Cape Breton today was declared to be approaching a crisis.

General Thacker, officer commanding Military District No. 6, is in Sydney today on a tour of inspection. Whether he will take over personal command of the troops in the field has not been announced, but it is known that the soldiers are to occupy strategic points in the Glace Bay District this afternoon.

Glace Bay is the heart of the coal mining industry and the headquarters of the United Mine Workers of District 26.

DIE WITH GIRL THEY TRIED TO RESCUE

Louisville, Ky., July 5.—Efforts of two young men to save their girl companion after their canoe capsized while riding the waves from a river tug, failed and the three were drowned in the Ohio River near the outskirts of the city.

Witnesses say the boys went down with the girl in their clutches.

VICTIMS OF RATS IN PERIL

South End Children in Danger of Blood Poisoning; Are Treated With Serum

Robert Wiley, fifteen months old, and Catherine Wiley, nine years, are receiving treatment at City Hospital for rat bites and injections of serum to prevent blood poisoning.

Their mother, Mrs. Hattie Wiley, was awakened by the baby's screams in her home at No. 84 Dover street, South End. Rushing to his cradle, she found the sheets spattered with blood.

The rat, one of several Mrs. Wiley had seen stealing through the rooms at different times, lacerated the boy's right arm with its sharp teeth.

Catherine awoke a minute or two later and, feeling sharp pains in her wrist, discovered her arm was also bitten. Mrs. Wiley hurried them both to the hospital.

Mrs. Wiley, who is twenty-eight years old, is mother of five children. Three of them are on an outing with the Morgan Memorial. Her husband disappeared several months ago, she said, and with the city's aid she is bringing up the children.

PRISONERS ATTACK OFFICER

Overcome in Battle in Stolen Machine Which Crashed Against Pole

A battle between a policeman and two strangers in a stolen car in Roxbury, today, ended abruptly when the driver lost control of the machine and it crashed into a telegraph pole.

Dazed and bleeding the policeman was left near the car where he had been hurled by the impact, and the two men disappeared.

Patrolman Albert E. Swift of Roxbury Crossing station, while on Washington street, near Valentine street, saw a car containing four men, which had been reported stolen in Newton on the "night before". Commandeering another car, Swift gave chase.

Near the corner of Marcella stret two of the men leaped from the car and escaped. The car containing the officer drove alongside, the stolen machine and the latter was brought to a halt at Washington and Townsend streets.

Swift placed the two men under arrest and ordered the driver to turn back to the police station. Both men were apparently taking the arrest quietly. At Columbia road and Dragdon street they suddenly turned on the officer. The battle followed.

For a time the driver tried to steer the car and fight the officer at the same time. When he released his hold on the wheel the car plunged against a telegraph pole, wrecking the car.

DANCER SUES, THEN SHE RIDES WITH MATE

IRENE CASTLE TREMAN

DANCER IS TAKING CURE FOR DIVORCE

Irene Castle Goes on Motor Trip With Husband After She Sues Him

Paris, July 5 (I.N.S.)—Mrs. Irene Castle Treman, whose suit for divorce has been filed in the Seine Tribunal, motored to Deauville this afternoon with her husband.

Friends said the dancer and her husband planned to take the "Deauville Reconciliation Cure" before their case is called for hearing in the Seine Tribunal Reconciliation court, which under French law, is a preliminary step to an actual divorce hearing.

Thomas Dudley Field Malone, former collector of the port of New York, admitted he was Treman's attorney in the divorce action. Mrs. Treman declared the suit had been filed "without her authorization."

Reports were numerous recently that there was a domestic rift in the dancer's affairs and that she had long contemplated a divorce.

Treman, a wealthy manufacturer and former aviation officer, arrived in Paris recently from his home in Ithaca, N. Y., and friends of the couple say his earnest efforts effected a reconciliation.

Yesterday, after the news of divorce action became known, the Treman dined with her husband on the Bois de Bologne.

An intimate friend, explaining the apparent reconciliation said:

"Mrs. Treman does not know her own mind, she doesn't know what she wants to do."

BEGIN WORK TO RAISE LUSITANIA

Expedition Sets Forth to Salvage Torpedoed Liner and Cargo

Dover, July 5 (I.N.S.)—An expedition to raise the torpedoed Lusitania from her grave off the southern Irish coast set forth today from Dover.

The salvage ship Semper Paratus is going, like a small boy to the end of the rainbow, to determine if a golden lure is really at the journey's end.

The question whether the Lusitania carried specie—or a valuable cargo of any kind, has been wrapped in mystery.

DEPTH NO OBSTACLE.

Authorities say they have never heard that there was anything on board the ill-fated vessel to justify a salvage expedition.

Moreover, it has been said, the Lusitania lies at a depth variously estimated at from 250 to 280 feet and the greatest depth at which divers can work successfully has been placed at 120 feet.

That Count Charles Zanardi Landi, head of the salvage company and chief of the Semper Paratus expedition, says he has perfected a diving suit in which his men can work easily at a depth of 500 feet.

He expects to raise the Lusitania "like her own buoyancy."

ENGINES NOT RUSTED.

Not only that, but if the great ship's engines were not put completely out of commission by the German torpedo, he may bring her to port under her own steam, he declared.

"The machinery has not rusted," he said. "A piece of wet iron left in the open will corrode as rust is caused by oxygen. But the deeper it lies under water, the less oxygen and less rust."

Count Landi has a long record of successful salvaging feats.

TIKHON REOPENS CHURCH WAR IN RUSSIA; BRANDS FOES

Moscow, July 5.—A new internal church war has begun. Dr. Tikhon, recently released from prison, signing himself boldly as patriarch, has addressed an appeal to "faithful clergy and laymen" deprecating the new church and declaring that his unfrocking was illegal and without effect.

At the same time the reformed church groups at a joint conference decided to bury the hatchet temporarily and unite to oppose Tikhon. Dr. Tikhon's appeal arraigns the revivalists as seekers after profits, titles and awards.

Boat for Fort Wright

Portland, July 5.—The army vessel Gordon, which has been out of commission for more than a year, has been reconditioned and sent to Fort H. G. Wright for service during the Summer.

MENNONITES PLAN A BIG CONFERENCE

Freeman, S. D., July 5 (AP).—Preliminary arrangements have been perfected for the national meeting of the Mennonite General Conference, to be held here next month. This little town of scarcely 1000 persons is preparing to entertain between 4,000 and 5,000 visitors who will attend the conference. The meetings will last a week and will be held on the campus of Freeman College, a Mennonite school. Freeman was chosen as a meeting place because there is a Mennonite colony, Wolf Creek, near here. This is the third such meeting to be held in the United States, members of the sect declare.

LEGION SORRY "TOM" DIDN'T KNOCK "JACK'S" BLOCK OFF

Prescott, Ariz., July 5.—A resolution regretting that Tommy Gibbons "failed to knock Dempsey's block off," was adopted last night by the executive committee of the American Legion which was in session here.

The resolution follows:

"Resolved, that the executive committee of the American Legion, Department of Arizona, having been informed of the conclusion of its general session of the Gibbons-Dempsey fight, regrets that Gibbons failed to knock Dempsey's block off."

ADVERTISING CLUBS INVITE HARDING

Portland, Me., July 5.—President Warren G. Harding will be invited to deliver the principal address at the closing banquet of the annual convention here of the New England Advertising Clubs on Tuesday evening, September 26.

4 DEAD, SEVERAL HURT, IN PENN. HOTEL FIRE

McKeesport, Pa., July 5 (I.N.S.)—Four persons were killed and several others injured, three of them seriously, when a fire of undetermined origin swept through the four-story hotel Schmidt here early today. For a time the fire threatened a part of the business section of the city.

The flames, starting in the basement, spread through the building with great rapidity.

Panic within and without the hotel followed. While several policemen hustled about rescuing women and children, screams from other occupants caught on the upper floor could be heard three blocks away.

CUT IN WINE USE DISTURBS AUSTRIA

Vienna, July 5. (AP).—Wine growers and wine sellers in Austria are alarmed at a recent notable reduction in the consumption of their products. They are loud in their complaints, and they inundate parliament with proposals for help. The principal causes of the falling off in the consumption of wine would seem to be, first, the exhorbitant prices asked by both producer and innkeeper, and second, the conditions of unemployment and half-time employment still existing in the country. These have converted the wine lover perforce into a water drinker.

SOCIETY GIRL REVEALS BISHOP'S AMAZING LOVE MAKING

PETTING PARTY DOINGS AS TOLD IN DARING BOOK

New York, July 5.—Miss Edna Falker Malcoskey of New York and Virginia, bud of Southern society, with many friends in Washington and Paris and the metropolitan smart set, has published a daring book of "petting parties" experience called "The Debutante."

Old Dominion society is feverishly asking the question:

"Who is the bishop that made violent love to our Little Edna?"

Similar questions are being asked concerning two young men whose love-making antics are barred.

A debutante, little more than twenty, Miss Malcoskey has written a story consisting of a society bud's diary in fiction form, in which she reveals details of the love-making of various men.

Among her friends it is well understood that the youthful author has committed to paper her own experiences.

Although actual names are not mentioned, characters are drawn so minutely, and the descriptions are so vivid, that originals and their friends have small difficulty in recognizing the figures in the book, just brought out by E. P. Dutton & Co.

One character, guesses concerning whose identity have set social tongues fluttering, is a bishop who made ardent love to the girl, "Peggy," young enough to be his daughter.

She delineates one love scene with the bishop in this way:

"The South was a mass of all flowering things. Once as we passed through a quaint old garden the bishop stopped and tucked one flaming red quince blossom in my jacket. The color rose to his face."

She added that the bishop exclaimed, "and, bending down, touched my forehead with his lips. The garden brought the fragrance of the things of love, those bewitching, interlesting things—it was lifting the lids of romance."

The bishop said to her:

"Come, let's go into the woods."

They walked along, and then, like a son from the blue:

"Where will this end, Peggy? Where will this end?"

Later he observed:

"You are young, dear. I am old—you think so anyway—and I am becoming too fond of you."

"How could you get too fond of me?" she asked.

A blackbird flutters near, and the bishop says:

"I mustn't blaspheme, Peggy."

"The bishop looked at me. His manner so changed. Before I knew what was happening, he was crushing me to the earth, crushing me. Senses, things faded, deadening things were around me.

"I felt his hot breath on my face; his kisses were pleading me."

FOUGHT AND PLEADED.

The bishop exclaimed to Peggy, according to the narrative:

"I want you. I want you."

Describing this moment, the debutante says:

"I fought, I pleaded, I begged, I prayed."

Her prayer was: "Oh, God, of you love, please remember me now."

The portrayal of this romantic incident continues:

"Whom would one of my strength had been upset when things began to grow black in front of me, it was then that the Bishop suddenly seemed to remember, and released me.

"He stood up quickly, and he paced to and fro in an endless circle. His body seemed wrecked by the havoc. Emotion had left him shaken, unnerved."

CAKE-EATERS AND HEROES.

The Bishop recovered somewhat, and said to her:

"What have I done?? God forgive me. I am sorry, dear."

"Look at me. Do you think I am terrible, a beast?"

"And you trusted me so, didn't you, dear?"

The diary depicts cake-eaters, war heroes and lovesick swains. She tells how, from France, a married officer pursued her to her Virginia home.

The book is dedicated to the young author's sister, Mrs. David Stuart Mann.

LENINE DYING, IF NOT DEAD, PETROFF SAYS

Washington, July 5—Nicolai Lenine, former Russian premier and Bolshevist leader, is slowly dying if not already dead, according to Professor Theodore Petroff, of Petrograd, who arrived in Washington Wednesday.

Nicolai Lenine

Professor Petroff, a scientist and educator, was not associated politically with the Czarist regime and is permitted to enter Russia by the Soviet government at will.

"The exact time and manner of Lenine's death probably never will be known to the outside world," Professor Petroff, who was in Petrograd and Moscow only recently, said. "From what I gathered while in Russia this spring the former premier for some time has been entirely separated from the control of Russian affairs."

"A Soviet government the people described as a government of a young and highly organized mine. Its position at the present time is declined, is stronger than at most any time since the overthrow of the Kerensky government, has adherents number less than a sixth of Russia's population.

"I do not think the Russian leaders today—Tchitcherin and his others—have the fanatical desire the deceased Lenine of propagandizing the world and bringing it under Bolshevistic standards," he declares. "The leaders now in control are rational men and will be well suited to hold what they have, but sooth sayers at least."

POSES HUNT MAN AS VICTIM LAYS DYING

Fremont, N. H., July 5—Cities and towns throughout New England have been notified by Chief of Police Farid to be on the lookout for Domick Flooch, who is wanted here for the shooting with intent to kill Dominick Stafuri.

A victim of the shooting is at the hospital with two bullet wounds in his chest, and is not expected to live. Stafuri in his moments of consciousness says that Flooch pulled a gun and fired at him with no apparent reason. Posses are hunting the fugitive.

MLLE. GIORGIE

New York, July 5—The arrival in America of Mlle. Edith Giorgie, famous seventeen-year-old Hungarian screen and stage actress, is expected in a few days.

Mlle. Giorgie was told by a fortune teller in Europe that her greatest success lies in America and as a result of that advice she has taken the trip.

The beautiful young actress is a sister-in-law of "Major," the famous cartoonist. She began her career at the age of six when she performed for Emperor Franz Josef. An elaborate national costume, adorned with jewels, was presented to Mlle. Giorgie by a Hungarian prince, who asked her to wear it as stage attire when she had attained notable success.

FIGHTS ARREST IN CAMBRIDGE LIQUOR RAID

Thomas M. Maynard, No. 100 Pine street, Cambridge, arrested in one of three liquor raids in Cambridge, defended solely upon bootlegging as a source of income to support his family, according to the police.

Maynard was arrested by Sergeant Presby and the Cambridge liquor squad after a lively tussle, during which Maynard tossed several gallons of liquor out the window to the soil as if praying, when he sank.

Suicide Prays in River, Sinks

Taunton, July 5—An unidentified man jumped into the Taunton River near the Weir Stove Works. James Kenney, watchman, heard the splash and heard the man talking to himself. Then he saw the man throw a bottle of liquor out the window to the soil as if praying, when he sank.

FOOD QUERY DEPARTMENT

YOUR FOOD PURCHASING DIFFICULTIES SOLVED

— A THURSDAY FEATURE —

Are you at a loss as to where you can secure some particular brand or kind of foodstuffs? If so, write the Boston American Food Query Editor. We will answer your inquiry in these columns as quickly as possible.

Food Query Editor:

Where can I buy Diamond Brand Ginger Ale? This ginger ale is put up in bottles resembling the imported C & C Ginger Ale and is sold very extensively all through Connecticut. I think the above piece of goods is every bit as good as the imported article, and I would love to be able to purchase same here in Boston if possible. MRS. J. H. A.
West Newton.

We know of a Marquisate Ginger Ale put up by the Diamond Bottling Co. of Waterbury, Ct., and we presume that this is the Ginger Ale you refer to. We do not know of any store handling this product here in Boston, but know it can be had at the J. B. Blood Company store in Lynn, Mass. No doubt they will fill a mail order for you.

Food Query Editor:

Where can I buy Buds Brand Ceylon Tea? I have heard several people say it is very fine.
MRS. M. J. D.
Winthrop, Mass.

We do not know of a Buds Brand, but Delano, Potter & Co., Inc., put up a brand of India Ceylon tea known as Police Force Brand. Most likely this is the tea you are looking for. You can secure some at G. Scott's Market, No. 251 Washington Ave., Winthrop; F. H. Bailey, No. 705 Tremont St., Boston; L. A. Johnson & Co., Faneuil Hall Market, and J. E. Moran & Co., No. 151 Mass. Ave., Boston.

Food Query Editor:

Can you tell me if there is such a salad dressing as Dr. Eldridge's? A friend of mine told me of same and thought this was the way the name was spelled. I would like to get same if it is possible.

Food Query Editor:

Have you ever heard of Old Homestead Coffee put up in one pound bag? A friend of my husband used to get us ten one pound bags every so often, but this gentleman has left town and we are at a loss as to where we can get it now. I have tried many different brands of coffee in the past ten years but we have never had anything that suits our fancy like the old Homestead. I have asked quite a few grocers when in town about same, but they claimed they had never heard of it. A friend of mine told me I could find out where to buy this item if I wrote to you. I assure you we will be greatly obliged if you give us the information desired. M. L. C.
Somerville, Mass.

We have tried to locate a store in Boston handling the Old Homestead brand of coffee, but the nearest place we have been able to find same is the E. Curry Co., No. 1501 Hancock St., Quincy, Mass. This coffee is put up by the International Coffee Co., New York City.

Food Query Editor:

NEW TRIAL OR DEATH, PAPPAS DECLARES

"No half way measures—a new trial or death!" was the answer of Paul Pappas, sentenced to die the week of July 12 for the murder of Mrs. Alice Arsenault, to the pleas of his attorney, John P. Feeney, that the condemned man sign a formal application for clemency before the governor's Council.

Paul Pappas

To ask the Governor for leniency would be the same as admitting his guilt, Pappas told his attorney and his friends when they visited him in his cell in the Charlestown State prison.

For the fifth time, Pappas faces electrocution for the murder of Mrs. Arsenault. For the second time he has refused to take a stand other than that of "death or freedom."

The Council will meet Tuesday two days before the expiration of the stay granted to enable Pappas to receive a hearing before the full bench of the Supreme Court on a bill of exceptions and a request for a new trial. The full bench denied the bill of exceptions and refused a new trial.

Attorney Feeney appears before Governor Cox today.

New York—Vincent Calevacra, a watchman in the Children's Court building, today was found slashed to death in an upper room of the building. Poulice declared a woman's footprints were found in blood stains on the floor.

Movie Star Hurt

ANITA STEWART.

A young woman who gave her name as Nellie Nelson and later as Anita Stewart, movie actress, was among the Fourth of July casualties at Rockville Centre, L. I. Hopping from auto to auto of holiday crowds, collecting funds for "Italian relief," she fell from the running board of one and was severely bruised.

GEN. GOURAUD GIVEN PHOTO OF QUENTIN

New York, July 5.—When General Henri Joseph Eugene Gouraud returns to France, he will bear with him a gift from the widow of Theodore Roosevelt—a photograph of her son, Quentin, who was shot down with his airplane over the German lines in 1918.

The photograph will be entrusted to French sculptors, who will chisel Quentin's features into the figure of an American soldier in a group memorial being erected in the Argonne by a committee of which General Gouraud is president.

SEX SERMONS CAUSED SLIGHT TO DR. MASSEE

Dr. J. C. Massee, pastor of Tremont Temple, where 10,000 members of the Baptist Young People of America are in convention, has not been invited to address the convention. Dr. Massee's tendency to discuss sex problems from the pulpit is said to be the reason for the slight.

Dr. J. C. Massee
Gamblin Studio

This is the first time in the history of the Young People's Society since it has been organized that a home pastor has not been invited to address a convention.

"It is recognized that a certain faction of the church is not in sympathy with Dr. Massee's propensity to speak on the Sixth Commandment," said Dr. Frederick F. Peterson, executive chairman of the convention and director of religious education of the Massachusetts branch of the organization." We have reason to believe that he was a little cool to the convention coming to Boston and the Tremont Temple."

Dr. Wilbur Ripley, director of the Colorado delegation, stated that the sentiment in the West was very hotly opposed to the methods such as practiced by Dr. Massee and a few other Baptist ministers.

Huntington, Va.—Ray Layman, of Clay City, Ind., was killed and Earl Stoll, of Huntington, his mechanician, injured when their automobile crashed through the guard rail during automobile races.

GANG KIDNAPS MAN, FORCES HIM TO TAKE POISON DOSE

Birmingham, Ala., July 5.—A gang of men kidnapped James Roff of Fairfield, bound him with wire and forced him to drink a liquid which doctors said was poison of some character. Prompt action of hospital attaches saved the man's life.

Roff told the police that he believed the attempt on his life was a climax to threatening letters he had been receiving for a month. An emblematic ring was torn from the man's hand, after he had been stripped to the waist and otherwise maltreated.

MURDER SUSPECT TAKEN 9 HOURS AFTER CRIME

Worcester, July 5.—John Tavani, alias Dino, of Providence, Brava, was arrested here for the murder of a white woman in Providence, nine hours after the murder was committed. Worcester police were notified by the Providence authorities, and Detective Sergeant John Sharry and Patrolman Lonergan picked up the suspect. He offered no resistance when arrested. The alleged murderer was taken to Providence on extradition papers.

BOSTON RESENTS DELETED DECLARATION

MAYOR TEARS PATCHED COPY FROM SCHOOLBOY'S HANDS

MAYOR SNATCHES COPY.

The reading was about to take place in the old State House balcony when Mayor Curley discovered Charles Dogan, colored honor pupil, had been given the deleted declaration. He snatched it from his hands, ordered him furnished a complete copy of the famous old document and then announced from the balcony that he would seek Read's removal as State House custodian.

Today in a letter to Grenville H. Norcross, president of the Bostonian Society, custodian of the old Liberty shrine, Mayor Curley in connection with Read's act wrote:

"I have no means of determining the source prompting the action of the secretary-treasurer of the Bostonian Society and am unwilling to accept his statement that he reviewed the Declaration of Independence as written by Thomas Jefferson in save time in the reading. In view of the fact tahl there was no occasion for hurry and everyone had ample time, it was as reasonable to eliminate portions of the Declaration of Independence as it would to eliminate portions of the Lord's Prayer.

"The entire proceeding in my opinion warrants investigation by your society and unless more satisfactory reason can be presented by Mr. Read I believe drastic action should be taken and some individual placed as custodian of the historical treasures of the Commonwealth and Nation who is sufficiently in sympathy with the history of the United States if necessary to waste, as he terms it, a few minutes in fulfillment of his duty."

DELETED PASSAGES.

What the schoolboy, Dogan, would have read had not Mayor Curley called to see the copy of the Declaration of Independence, contained nothing of the vital passages indicting Great Britain for the crimes America was rebelling against. Some of the deleted passages read:

"He (George III) has forbidden his Governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation until his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

"He has refused to pass other laws for the accomodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

"He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

SWARMS OF OFFICE HOLDERS.

"He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of Lands.

"He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

"He has made Judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

"He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

"He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies without the consent of our Legislature.

"He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

TAXED WITHOUT CONSENT.

"For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States.

"For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world.

"For imposing taxes on us without our consent.

"For depriving us in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury.

"For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences.

"For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments.

"For suspending our own Legislatures and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

PLUNDERED OUR SEAS.

"He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

"He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns and destroyed the lives of our people.

"He is at this time transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely parelleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

"He has constrained our fellow citizens taken captive on the high seas to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren or to fall themselves by their hands.

"He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions."

Engaged for Show

LADY DIANA MANNERS

English aristocrat hired by Morris Gest to play leading role in "The Miracle" in New York this Fall.

GEST TO STAR LADY DIANA MANNERS

Paris, July 5.—Morris Gest, who is on a business trip to Europe arranging some productions which he will bring to New York in the Fall and Winter, has engaged Lady Diana Cooper, better known as Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the Duke of Rutland, to play the leading role in "The Miracle," which Reinhardt will stage in New York in the Fall under his management.

It is understood that Mr. Gest had a difficult task in choosing between Lady Diana and Miss Ida Rubenstein for the role, and he decided in favor of the English aristocrat who some years ago made a name for herself in amateur theatricals in England and has more recently been acting for the films in England.

RUM PARTY PLUNGES INTO CHELSEA CREEK

"Down by the old spice mill" might be put to music to remind a male quartet where their celebration of Fourth of July, 1923, came to an end.

It was at such a destination at the Chelsea Creek, below Clinton street on Crescent avenue, Chelsea, that a weary flivver plunged after ricocheting through divers streets and fields early today. On the bank, "like flounders," as a sergeant put it, police found John D. Teevens of No. 146 Falcon street, East Boston; Howard Pitts, 218 Saratoga street, East Boston; William Moore, 82 Division street, Chelsea, and John J. Gaffney, address not obtained.

Gaffney is in the Chelsea Memorial Hospital, as he almost drowned. The others were arraigned in East Boston Court on a charge of drunkenness.

REPORT ON RAIL VALUATIONS PROTESTED

Washington, July 5.—Protests in connection with the Federal valuation of railroads came up for argument today before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

A total of the recent national conference on valuation at Chicago with delegations of labor leaders and representatives of farm organizations has been read and their spokesman is expected to appear at the hearings which will continue three days.

Two important issues directly involved in a number of railroads, principally the Rutland & Arcostook, Chicago & Eastern Illinois and Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville, literally all cases the roads attack the tentative valuation announced by the commission for their property as too small. State railroad commissions in some instances have represented the valuations as too great. The Chicago conference viewpoint was the commission's valuations are wrong in principle.

Railroads have taken a double ground in attacking the findings, one aimed at details of valuations, and based on the contention that reproduction costs at present would enable them to a much higher capital value. They also have asked inclusion of "going concern assets," going concern value and will and the like in their totals, along with the valuations put upon physical assets.

Vacation School Seeks to Perfect Better Rat Trap

At the vacation school of the Norwegian Baptist Church, Dorchester, more than 150 boys and girls are studying all sorts of handicraft in charge of the pastor, Rev. T. B. Dahl. Several of the boys are making radio sets.

"We are teaching young people how to do something worth doing better than any one else," explained the pastor.

"The world needs a better rat trap. We hope to make our vacation school famous when we have perfected such a trap."

FRIENDS OF PILSUDSKI TRY TO PREVENT DUEL

Warsaw, July 5 (A.P.)—Friends of Marshal Joseph Pilsudski and General Sosnkowski, minister of war, who exchanged bitter words at a recent conference, are endeavoring to bring about a reconciliation so as to avoid a duel between the two. Marshal Pilsudski resigned as chief of the war council because of his differences with the minister.

300 PRISONERS FREED WEEKLY IN IRELAND

London, July 5.—Ireland today is as tranquil as Great Britain," said Timothy Healy, Governor-General of the Irish Free State, in an interview with the Daily Express prior to his return to Ireland after conversations with Imperial authorities regarding Irish affairs.

The Governor-General said the government was trying to reconstruct conditions in which the services of himself still holding 10,000 Irishmen. The government's purpose, he said, was to release these prisoners. They are now being freed at a rate of about 300 weekly.

The Governor-General complained of the continued refusal of the northern government to appoint a boundary commissioner to cooperate with Great Britain and the Free State in settling the boundary between the two divisions of the country.

He also denounced the Belfast authorities for keeping more than 400 Catholics in custody "on nothing but suspicion." Mr. Healy said many of these persons under the Imperial government might have been arrested merely in order that the public offices they held might be given to nominees of the new government.

HUB WILL TEACH SPELLING BY NEW PLAN

The little snip of a pig tailed miss who used to spell down everybody in school has had her day.

She's out.

We now have a new method of teaching youngsters to spell, designed in Boston, which will go into effect in September.

It is that pupils learn to spell and acquire the understanding of words at one and the same time, combining with simple words in Grade 1 and proceeding with more difficult ones each year to and through Grade 8.

Here is the idea and a sample of the words the youngsters will learn to spell, pronounce and understand as they proceed from curls, through pigtails to bobbed locks and lengthened skirts:

SIMPLE ONES.

First Grade—Such words as, "all, bed, dog, fill, little, pen, us, you."

Second Grade—"Flower, horse, played, river, shoes, water, wrote."

Third Grade—"Anything, big, goat, country, Christmas, every thing, grandmother, o'clock, Tuesday."

Fourth Grade—"Carriage, difficult, forehead, language, nineteenth, pigeon, surprise, tongue, vegetable."

Fifth Grade—"Aeroplane, eighteenth, celery, bouquet, jetties, luncheon, thermometer, wharf, wholly."

A FEW POSERS.

Seventh Grade — "Convenience, dictionary, gracious, social, privilege, rheumatism, recommendation, vegetation."

Eighth Grade: — "Accommodate, association, cylinder, democracy, economical, counterfeit, hygiene, punctuality, sovereignty, preliminary."

In all, youngsters between entering school at five or six years old and graduating at the age of 13 or 14, will learn to spell and understand 2,000 words.

The new method is called the Boston Word List and has the enthusiastic endorsement of Jeremiah E. Burke, superintendent of public schools.

METHOD PRAISED.

Under the old method of teaching spelling the pupils learned from text books, and often did not understand the meaning of the word they might spell correctly. Under the new method from ten to twenty words will be dictated daily. Misspelling will prompt immediate correction and individual study.

Experimenting in the Boston Model School has proved that the new method stimulates the child's interest in the lesson as old style teaching never did before.

IRISHMEN ARE FOUND GUILTY OF SEDITION

London, July 5.—Art O'Brien, president of the Gaelic League in London, and five of his colleagues who were released from internment in Ireland under a court decision upsetting the regularity of their deportation from England, were found guilty of seditious conspiracy. O'Brien was sentenced to two years and the others to one year each.

1-TUBE SET WITH LONG RANGE

Two transformers, a crystal, a fixed condenser and a crystal are all that is needed to convert a standard one tube set into a reflex circuit having three times the range and volume.

The key to its successful construction is in the transformers used. Get the best. The radio frequency transformers should have a range of from 375 to 600 meters. Practically all transformer coupled sets range with 100 per cent efficiency throughout the whole band of waves, but the better designed transformers approximate it, so that the stations with wave-lengths of the higher and lower values come in with only slightly less volume than the intermediate ones.

The audio-frequency transformer should have a ratio of five to one. Transformers with larger ratios will bring in louder signals, but there will be considerable distortion.

A potentiometer is necessary for the stabilization of the circuit. As in a regenerative set, the adjustment should be just this side of oscillation. If oscillation cannot be controlled by a simple 300-ohm potentiometer connected as shown, it generally indicates too much R battery or that the transformers are too close together. The transformers should be at least six inches apart and preferably more, and the coils of one should be at right angles to the coils of the other.

The secondary tuning condenser should have a vernier. The primary condenser should have the rotor plates grounded, which considerably diminishes body capacity. The plus side of the A battery may also be grounded, which sometimes gives better results.

It will be noted that the crystal detector circuit is a unit by itself, and that the tube circuit is a complete receiver. This is both an advantage and a disadvantage.

If the crystal is not allowed, the receiver will function as a single tube tube set, although the independence of the transformer primaries will diminish its efficiency. However, if a station can be heard on the tube as a detector, it can be tuned thus and the crystal then adjusted. WDYA are not a satisfactory tube for this receiver.

OSTEOPATHS PLAN BULWARK TO COMBAT RAVAGES OF CANCER

BABYHOOD RIPE TIME FOR ACTION

Seek to Eliminate Preliminary Conditions Which Give Disease Foothold

The osteopathic idea of eliminating cancer by beginning with the baby consists fundamentally of treatment which will prevent the eddies and whirlpools of the infant's body from clogging the channels. By so doing the possibility of cancer will be reduced to a minimum when the individual reaches the cancer period of life.

Dr. R. Kendrick Smith of No. 19 Arlington st., Boston, an authentic osteopath, is doubly able to set forth the new conception of cancer by osteopathic because of a recent discussion with Dr. Emery of Los Angeles with whom the theory is original.

When a baby is born, its body has been, by that event, put through a tremendous strain. If at that time, it is osteopathically adjusted, the baby comes into existence with fewer handicaps than if no attention is paid to correcting the distortions and displacements.

NEGLECT BREEDS CANCER.

"Cancer is the result of neglect," said Dr. Smith in his interpretation of the osteopathic idea of cancer. "It is the result of very gradual accumulation. That can be most simply illustrated by the mechanism of nature in its reflex workings in the brook which is clear while it runs swiftly and in a straight channel. But when there are eddies and whirlpools, debris accumulates and lodges in pockets and corners of the stream.

"It is the same way with the human body. Mechanical interference, circulation of the blood and lymph with the nerves causes eddies and whirlpools and accumulations of debris. When these accumulations occur in certain parts of the body nature is often unable to cope with the situation and the result is usually a perversion of natural processes. Cellular growth becomes perverted. The cells grow into cancer instead of into natural tissue.

OSTEOPATHIC PLAN.

"The osteopathic idea of preventing cancer by eliminating the preliminary condition in the baby is an entirely new one and is original with Dr. Emery, who is one of the best known surgeons in the Pacific Coast. He has described the theory with me at length.

"Osteopathic care of the human being from babyhood to the cancer period of life tends to reduce to a minimum the possibility of cancer. That treatment consists of preventing eddies and whirlpools from stagnating channels and stopping their natural flow.

"There is a beginning of everything. That is as true of cancer as of anything else. It is much easier to sweep away eddies and whirlpools when they first appear than after they have been established for years.

PHYSICAL BULWARK.

"Derangements of the body framework occur frequently in the strenuous romping of children and in the athletics of youth. If the patient is regularly adjusted osteopathically throughout these periods, he will survive of the cancer age without the eddies and whirlpools which predispose to that and other serious disorders.

"Since osteopathy is a system of treatment based on the theory that diseases are chiefly due to deranged mechanism of the bones, nerves, blood vessels and other tissues and can be remedied by manipulations of these parts, it stands to reason that if osteopathic treatment is given in the first and early stages, as in babyhood, cancer can be readily and most easily eliminated."

N. E. RAILROAD PLAN ATTACKED BY AMBLER

New York, July 5—The reorganization plan for the New England railroads presented by Hiz Honor, as a committee does not, offer a guarantee to the railroad problem in Massachusetts and other New England states, says, is primarily an old fashioned bankers' plan, is the opinion of N. L. Ambler, chairman of the New Haven Stockholders' Protective Committee.

In attacking the reorganization plan, which includes an assessment against the stockholders to raise $100,000,000 in cash, Mr. Ambler said he would strongly oppose any assessment.

"This is not the cure for the ailments of the New Haven or of the New England roads," he said. "The only cure is revenue and this must come from New England freight and passenger traffic, but from the trunk line traffic as well.

"The theory of having New England roads fix their own rates is simply unsound, but it is not practicable because the New England states are willing to buy the railroads at what they are worth, not think if the basis for this instituting low freight tariffs to encourage New England industries without thought of insuring operating revenues. They would only be an added tax the public for the benefit of the railroads.

"But it is hardly fair or practicable to ask a certain portion of railroads in the United States with own New England railroad securities to become philanthropists and keep raising assessments in order to furnish transportation service to any community at less than cost.

Mr. Ambler said also that the plan is "primarily an old-fashioned bankers' plan," and does not offer a solu-

ANNUAL RAYMOND STORE OUTING ONE BIG JOY FESTIVAL

DORR HOST TO ALL HIS EMPLOYES

Wonderful Spread Enjoyed Immensely at Spacious Estate at Framingham

The Framingham band went from "You Tell Her, I Stutter," into "Yes, We Have No Bananas." Along the curb in the square folks stood three deep enjoying their annual Fourth of July spread. There was a time when the Framingham firemen used to have things all their own way on the grand and glorious Fourth.

They'd shoot off a man's size cannon in front of the firehouse and all Framingham stood at attention more or less curious as to just when the thing might backfire and a few firemen go on the pension list.

But all that's past. The big thing now in Framingham on the good old safe and sane Fourth is Raymond's outing.

DORR IS HOST

Raymond's is that Washington street store, Boston, which, like the after-dinner speaker, "needs no introduction." It so happens that Raymond's is owned and operated by one Frank L. Dorr, whose estate in Framingham is one of the show places thereabouts.

Every Fourth of July, Mr. Dorr is host to every employe in Raymond's, from his managers down to cash boys and janitors, also their families. He greets them, feeds them and gives them the run of his estate.

In return the boys and girls, grownups and otherwise put on a show in the form of a costume parade which starts at Framingham proper and moves out to the Dorr acres.

It is this parade which has ruined things for all time for the Framingham fire fighters. They couldn't have an audience now if they imported Houdini.

ORIGINAL COSTUMES

For the parade the Raymond folks put on is worth price money to see. It sparkles with such originality, humor and beauty that one is forever wondering that when such home movie stars or that some of our greatest stage comics once ran sash or sold such uncomical things as gasoline or lar soap.

Put a few elephants in a Raymond parade, a camel or two, some high stepping mare and a case of "eats" and Mr. Barnum himself would be interested.

A year ago the writer, in a burst of enthusiasm, confided to the powers that rule him that he was the proud young owner of a new straw hat.

"How do you like it?" says the writer.

"Fine," says the boss. "What'd you pay for it?"

"Ninety-five cents at Raymond's."

Since which timid burst of confidence the writer has heard two Fourth of July's making notes on the Raymond parade. As he happens to be a parade expert, having paraded his wife's infants through several "teething nights" while she slept and moved in several of the best bread lines, he knows whereof he writes. Raymond's is bonecap parade.

OLD FRIENDS IN LINE

Moving Wednesday from Framingham to the Dorr estate, just before noon, the procession was more than a mile long, including automobiles.

Uncle Eph and Lish Simpkins, who never fail to pull a "wise crack" in a Raymond ad, moved with their friends the Toonerville Cops led by Town Constable Di Grammont, portly but warped.

The procession was in eight divisions. Besides featuring the largest straw hat ever publicly shown, a hat wherein a whole might comfortably bathe, it starred Miss Rose McGuire as the Goddess of Liberty, a young lady whose looks would crowd an empty store, let alone a bargain mart such as Raymond's.

PASS IN REVIEW.

Others, whose antics were gigglegetters were the Car Pipe Band directed by Frank McDermott; the Mayor of Toonerville, impersonated by Frank Sullivan; "Si Tooler and wife," portrayed by A. Shrider and Miss Britten; "Village Parson," by Julius Fyser; Toonerville Fire Department, Frank McNamee, chief, and a Charley Chaplin characterization.

After being reviewed by Mr. Dorr and guests the procession disbanded. Luncheon was served in a large refreshment tent and eaten on the well-shaded lawns while the band played "Bananas" with dessert.

At 4 o'clock the outing came to an end with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." A dozen special cars were required to take the employes from Park Square to their destination and return.

How Nuxated Iron Helped Me To Whip Tom Gibbons

Put Me In Such Superb Condition As To Enable And Retain the World's Championship

JACK DEMPSEY
"TIGER OF THE RING"

Tells A Secret Of His Training—Advises People Who Are in a Weakened, Rundown Condition To Use Nuxated Iron To Increase Their Strength, Vigor and Vitality

Today, recognized as the physical superior of all living man, the superman of the age, Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, explains below the part Nuxated Iron played in helping to prepare him for the three supreme tests of his career. First he used Nuxated Iron as a part of his training to increase his stamina and endurance in his decisive victory over the mighty Willard who had never before been knocked from his feet. In this battle Dempsey displayed a dynamic overwhelming strength and power never before known in the history of the ring; and then again in his phenomenal victory over Carpentier he displayed that same indomitable force and nerve power before seen and heard of. Now as a crowning achievement over Gibbons he demonstrates the great advantage possessed by all athletes who use Nuxated Iron. The first time I took Nuxated Iron as part of my training for Willard, I remember and told anyone who was in the dressing room at the time, that I had never before been so full of energy, vim and vitality. I felt as though I could whip my weight in wildcats. I was more than pleased with the results I obtained from Nuxated Iron and after the fight Jack Dempsey said: "Four years ago, preparing for my bout with Willard, I took Nuxated Iron, and I never had known I felt so well. I was never more full of energy, vim and vitality. I was never stronger and I never had more endurance. I was in splendid condition and I attribute much of my success to Nuxated Iron. I shall certainly continue to take Nuxated Iron regularly." Before I started to train for the international championship bout against Carpentier I took Nuxated Iron to help put me in the best condition possible, and I am positive that it would help give me that rugged strength, endurance and power that is of greatest importance in contests of this kind, because, other things being equal, victory always goes to the strongest man. In my opinion Nuxated Iron is a wonderful tonic and I am sure that it played an important part in getting me into such fine physical condition as to enable me to win so quickly and easily in my battle with Carpentier. Before the fight I had heard so much of Carpentier's great skill and the ease with which he had defeated all the noted heavyweights of Europe that I felt I might have a battle royal on my hands but I found him even easier for me than Willard and I felt practically as fresh after

Important Statement of Jack Kearns, Manager for Dempsey

... has obtained from the use of Nuxated Iron by his three principal victories over Willard, Carpentier and Gibbons. I have ... in a Nuxated Iron ... and Floyd J. ...

Many a capable man and woman is short of winning success and happiness in life because they do not take enough Nuxated Iron to enrich their blood and thereby supply the vital nerve force to their brain and nerve cells. Many apparently strong, healthy people are ... before their time, their nerve force slowly but surely oozing away, because they have allowed worry, nervous strain and overwork to rob them of their natural nerve force and power to resist disease. Nuxated Iron has helped thousands of nervous, run-down people in the past few years to regain their health by its wonderful power to enrich the blood and thereby help to create new nerve force and power. If you are nervous, irritable, weak, run-down, lack energy, strength and endurance, or are all run down and tired out before you begin the day's work, or if you are pale and sickly, you should by all means take Nuxated Iron and enjoy the splendid health and strength it will give you. Ask your physician or druggist about it.

Good Clothes, Hats, Furnishings, Etc., at Notable Reductions From Former Low Prices

In living up to our fixed policy of a complete clearance at the end of each season, these Great Kennedy Stores now make price reductions which, while not sensational in themselves, nevertheless present most extraordinary values—values which no man who needs anything to wear and who appreciates good style and fine quality can afford to disregard.

We've kept our stocks complete throughout the season. Everything is new, high grade and exceptionally attractive—the choicest products of Kuppenheimer and other leading makers. Our regular prices were the lowest anywhere on such desirable garments.

It's from our regular low prices—not so-called "values"—that our reductions are made—a known saving on known quality merchandise. You may see bigger price reductions quoted elsewhere, but you won't find any better values—probably none as good.

The following reductions apply to all Blue Serge and Fancy Suits, excepting only Palm Beaches, Mohairs and other tropicals

Alkali in Soap Bad for Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Soap. It is pure and entirely greaseless. It is neutral and leaves no dulling coat like [illegible]. A few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily.

The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

President Harding's Tribute To The Covered Wagon

In his speech at Meacham, Ore., the Nation's head praised the marvelous spirit of America as depicted in this great American picture. President Harding said:—

Not very long ago I saw THE COVERED WAGON in the pictures. I SAT ENTRANCED. There was more than the ... and discouragement, more than ... and enthralling heroism

"There was more than the ... elation of the ... who failed in fitness to survive, more than Tragedy and Comedy in their keep ... It was more than the Scouts who ... and ... the Natures relentless barriers revealed.

... SOUL OF UNALTERABLE PURPOSE, and the commanding sturdiness of ELEMENTAL GREATNESS. Still more, there was DETERMINATION TO DO, themselves, not asking the Government to do, but for Government only to sanction or permit. . . .

They carried with Name, HEROES PERISHED without fame's acclaim, and THEY CONQUERED AND WROTE BIG THEIR PART IN THE MAKING OF THE GREATER REPUBLIC. Their VICTORY proved the strength of RESOLUTE PURPOSE and ... thus CONFIDENT IN ITSELF AND EAGER TO ACHIEVE ... ON account."

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

THE American people are already beginning to look forward to the 1924 presidential campaign, and judging from the trend that Wilson and Harding hold classes one next President will presumably be a traveling man.

IF the winning candidate has a good job with some outside firm, he can keep on to it and let our President as a side line.

TRAVELING broadens our Presidents, but it makes the treasury flat.

BUT you've got to admit that Harding is the best outside President that this country has ever had.

HE has studied business conditions and even now he's up in Alaska finding out how Eskimo jobs are made.

HE didn't carry his golf clubs, but he took a couple of tennis balls along with him.

HE hopes to be in Alaska long enough to attend the anniversary house janitors' convention up there.

MR. HARDING didn't go to Alaska by automobile. The presidential car is in the garage being converted into a sight-seeing bus.

HE took several members of the Cabinet along with him because there'll be so much scenery that he wouldn't get a chance to look at it all himself.

WHEN people hear that he's gone to Alaska, everybody will want to become a President just so they can see the country.

BUT Harding likes Washington and usually tries to spend his week-ends there.

THE President left Laddie Boy, the Airedale, at home. Somebody had to stay at the White House to watch his golf clubs.

HARDING was going to take Laddie Boy with him to Alaska, but he was afraid he might catch cold sleeping with the Eskimo dogs.

BUT Laddie Boy will think he's way up, north because the gardener was instructed to feed him ice cream cones and show him some picture post cards of Fairbanks and Nome.

STILL, the poor dog will probably walk around the golf course all day wondering where his master is.

THE only way to console the dog is to show him some of the President's score cards.

ENGLAND wanted Mr. Harding to come over there for a visit. They're not satisfied with having most of our money, they want our attitude to come over and spend what little we've got left.

NOBODY really knows why Warren went to Alaska, but he's probably gone there to try to get the Republican votes for the coming nomination.

ONCE OVERS

(Copyright, 1923, Premier Syndicate, Inc.)

DO NOT BE SELFISH WHEN MOTORING.

As you drive to work each morning you see the same persons standing on corners waiting for a car to take them to work.

Would it not be a "white" thing for you to pick up some of these persons and take them to town with you?

It might not be advisable if crowded for the extent of carrying strangers picked up at any point, because you might invite a hold-up, but there is not much likelihood of anything of the sort with those you meet day after day.

You know you are selfish about your car, do you not?

You and your family go out often with spare room for one or more others from your neighborhood who are unable to buy cars.

Is it because you are so foolishly proud that you do not want to take anyone with you whose appearance is not so prosperous as your own?

Where is your independence? Why be a slave to appearances? Service counts before self all times and a lift is something to be appreciated by the weary person who cannot at his own expense enjoy the pleasure a car affords.

STRAWBERRIES

Strawberries, strawberries, hear the vendor cry!

You are to blame if you let me slip by."

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

The behavior of the stock market is exciting a lot of uneasiness throughout the country. Wall Street is being severely criticized for its apparently irresponsible, senseless actions, the stock market rising briskly one hour, only to tumble still lower the next hour.

Just what do the stock market's wide, not to say wild, gyrations mean, if they mean anything at all?

Many inquiries are coming to hand from readers, both nearby and distant. They are disturbed. Some of them are upset because their stock holdings dwindled in market value. Others, mostly business men, want to know if the drastic fall in security quotations forecasts drastic recession and depression in business. Others would like "inside" information as whether more failures are coming. "Do the big fellows know of something overwhelming that the public are not getting rid of stocks as fast as they can?" is the tenor of other letters. And, of course, there is the perennial query as to whether the decline is over and the time has come to get into the market.

From a highly responsible Western citizen comes this timely letter: "There is a pathetic confusion about the stock market that a financial writer with an authority as large as yours should dispel—if I am right and you agree."

"Myriads of business men consider the market a barometer and get panicky when they see a big drop occur. They think a big discount is a general future condition, when, in fact, it may record a past performance."

"It is a barometer in a sense, but most folks entirely miscalculate the volume of the change and whether it presages or reflects a condition."

"The particular myth that we hear so often runs something like this: Steel dropped from 110 to 50. Twenty points on $500,000,000 capitalization is a loss to stockholders of a dollar loss to everyone in the United States on an average, so a lot of people must suffer indirectly."

"As a matter of fact, there may not have been a single dollar lost to the community as a whole."

"Let us imagine an extreme case. Suppose steel was nearly dealt in. Most of it was purchased on margin at 50. On May 1, John Smith wants 100 shares badly enough to pay $10,000 for them. Good reasons, he tells again at 90. His loss is $2,000. The man he bought from has the $10,000 and all the others are just where they were in March."

"Doesn't this illustrate the folly of predicting the shares by the drop and working up a fright about the future?"

Yes, it is foolish to figure that each time stocks fall, say, an average of a dollar a share, the whole country is poorer by as many dollars as there are shares outstanding. It would be just as foolish to assume that every time the stock market rose a point the country became richer by the same amount.

The real wealth of the country does not expand and contract every moment or every hour as the stock market responds to upwards or downwards. The real wealth of the country does not consist of stock and bond certificates.

While it is a common saying that "the stock market acts six months ahead," it is by no means true that the stock market always forecasts events correctly. Sometimes it does. Sometimes it doesn't.

For example, the stock market was not forecasting events correctly in January and February and early in March when it was getting up and up. There has shown that industry and business were then on the eve of a bull, with prices for stocks and securities on the down grade.

Personally, I doubt whether the recent ongorings in the stock market forecast similar events in the business world. It would seem as if the stock market was "overbought" during the last rise. That is to say, apparently almost everybody who had any thoughts about buying stocks did so. Many of them were not in a position to hold on during a sharp release in quotations. The market, therefore, began to fall and continued to fall partly, if not largely of its own weight. What Wall Street calls the "technical position" of the market had become very weak.

Sooner or later—and probably sooner rather than later—the market will find itself "oversold," just as it was "overbought" early in the year.

When speculation became feverish in February and March I was sounding words of caution.

Now that it seems to me that pessimism has been carried altogether too far, I am taking a different tack. Trustworthy stocks can now be bought at prices which yield a generous return on the investment.

* * *

The country would do well not to allow itself to become as nervous and jumpy as Wall Street has been during recent weeks.

Rails and Equipments Are Run Lower in a Heavy New York Stock Market

NEW HAVEN OFF TO FRESH LOW FOR ALL TIME

Railroad and equipment stocks were run lower in a heavy New York stock market today after a mixed opening. New Haven was run to a record low, off 2 points at 9⅝. Money renewed at 4" per cent.

New minimum prices for the year were established by Chesapeake Steel, American Car, Delaware & Hudson, Postum Cereal, Brown Shoe, Youngstown Steel & Tube, Union Pacific, Western Union, Corden, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Pacific Oil and Corn Products, the latter new issue, Consolidated Textile.

Other rails also were heavy, Canadian Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line and Pere Marquette yielding a point or more. Pan American B. B. Dupont, Producers & Refiners and Pullman were strong.

Demand sterling established a new low for the year at $4.56 1-16.

The market opened irregular and fairly active. Leading stocks which were under pressure toward the close Tuesday, Studebaker, Union, New York Central and Steel common, were firm, initially.

Over holiday news was mixed, with the London bank rate raised and further advance in price cuts, while early our loadings on American rails were still over the million mark for the fifth consecutive week.

Foreign exchanges were lower, a reflection of the fact that Anglo-French discussions as to reparations question had not yet reached agreement.

MEXICAN SEABOARD.

To G. R. F., Lake street—Issue, while unrated for investment, shows plenty of speculative possibilities. News item about which you ask stated that block of 118 hectares in southern part of Dist. No. 1, Tuxpan, in heavy oil district, had been made available for development to Mexican Seaboard Oil as result of order from President Obregon to rectify denouncement title covering lot 2, Canalizo granted Empire Gas & Fuel Co., the well No. 1-A averaging 2,500 barrels daily.

Outside the 118 hectares to be held by the Empire and is being pooled jointly with Sinclair. Eight wells have been drilled in the property, nine with potential daily production of 72,000 barrels, although but 30,000 barrels are being withdrawn at present.

The 118 hectares in question have been the property of the International (subsidiary of Mexican Seaboard, in fee simple since 1916. Balance of the lot, through a series of transfers, came into possession of Empire.

Twenty wells are to be drilled in 118 hectares as soon as permits can be secured. A contract now in effect with Empire provides for Intl. to take 10,000 barrels of oil daily from wells on this property. If held to these figures, it will be a net loss of 8,000 barrels a day to Sinclair and Empire who have an over-production from their wells far above their present or contemplated pipe lines.

SHRINKAGE HEAVY IN BROKERS' LOANS

Decline in the market has been followed by a heavy shrinkage in so-called brokers' loans. One house reports a reduction of $10,000,000 in its loans from peak of the year. Another house is lending close to $10,-000,000 on the street, and still another important firm is a lender to extent of $2,500,000.

One banker who keeps in close touch with the situation says several hundred millions have come to Dutch and other foreign capital for investment in American securities, including many issues of railroad bonds. Bankers who three months ago declined to put up bonds on rail-road stocks cheerfully sub-have been wiped out.

BILLION IMPORTS IN RAW STUFFS

Imports of raw materials for the fiscal year ending June 30 were estimated today as valued at $1,000,000,000, according to the National City Bank of New York. This represents a gain of more than 10 per cent. over the imports of the same materials the preceding year, and is running closely to approach the record made in the peak year ended June 30, 1921.

With this gain in imports, the latter are running considerably ahead of the exports and bankers are voicing different views concerning the swing in the country's trade balance.

Some pointed out that the United States has definitely corrected an abnormal situation in foreign lending. Others said the swing proved Europe had recovered agricultural ly, while manufacturing is still comparatively under way, entirely out of proportion to the agrarian unbuilding.

AUTO PRODUCTION SHOWING UP WELL

Automotive Industries says—"Due to inventory taking many automobile plants among them the Ford factories, will close down for a short period this month or next, this naturally affecting the total output for July and August. Regardless of these interruptions to operations, the production rate of the industry as a whole will be maintained at a satisfactory level without, however, approaching the high marks established in preceding months.

DU PONT TO HEAD BALTIMORE BANK

GIANT CAMERAS TO PHOTOGRAPH THE ECLIPSE

Pittsburgh, July 5 (AP).—In the hope of determining whether there is motion within the corona during an eclipse of the sun, a party of American scientists, under the direction of Dr. John A. Miller, of Swarthmore College, is preparing to conduct a series of important experiments from the top of a high mountain in Central Mexico next September.

A year or more has been required to complete the arrangements, and the actual working time of the scientists will be only 189 seconds, the duration of the eclipse. If the day should be cloudy, all the labor and expense of preparation will have gone for naught.

The largest photographic instruments ever made for observation will be placed in position. They are now nearing completion here and will be ready when the expedition leaves July 25.

There are two cameras, in order that two pictures may be taken at the same time for checking purposes. The apperture of each is 6.5 inches, and the focal length is 15 feet.

The lenses will be made on the finest plate glass, each plate being 18x18 inches, specially prepared for this work by experts.

It is probable that not more than two photographs can be taken owing to the brief period when the face of the sun will be obscured. A dozen or more plates have been taken along however, in order that every emergency may be met.

Forucci and Guido Rossi, his wife and five children were rescued. They are now homeless.

His clothes afire, Forucci leaped from the second story window of his tenement into the net held by the firemen. Hundreds in horror watched him jump.

Largest Evening Circulation in New England—July 5, 1923

In 1921 the total number of deaths was 10,220, or 1,381 less than in the previous year; corrected death rate 12.43.

Public Library Should Be Maintained by City

There has been an appeal for private gifts to the Boston Public Library by the trustees. Although the circulation of the Library gained 96,338 last year, and thus mounted to 2,768,984, the reading rooms were said to be taxed beyond their capacity.

The trustees report "the time has come when the Library must either lose its scholarly standing or must fail to serve the great reading public in its call for recreational reading and the less solid books of non-fiction. Without an increased income from trust funds, it will soon be quite out of the question to round out and maintain collections which have, in the past, been of great service to scholars and research students, not only in Boston and vicinity, but throughout the world."

If we had to choose between recreational books and educational books, the books from which scholars and research students and investigators must obtain the information which they seek for their various purposes, we should unhesitatingly choose less fiction and more books for research and for the benefit of scholars, for from such work flows the progress of civilization itself.

But we should not have any such dilemma. It is a shame that a great city should have to call upon private individuals to maintain its public library in its two most important branches of service.

It indicates a failure of democracy; a failure of public education. We do not want private benefaction in these great public functions. We want the public to be self-sustaining in the great agencies of democracy. Otherwise, we can see the end of democracy itself.

If her agencies must depend upon private charities, she has no stable foundation. The great requirement of democracy, of civilization itself, is the accessibility of information.

Let the city supply the public library with all the books it needs. Let the scholars of the country have access to the best library in the world, if we can make it the best.

The primary need of a public library is not to give pleasure, but to extend our knowledge, and if we have to sacrifice anything, LET us sacrifice the fiction. But there is no need of sacrificing the fiction, either.

We call the attention of the Mayor and the city government to this situation.

A Failure, but Not of Democracy

A recent issue of "Industry," the official organ of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, devotes an entire page to the discussion of what it terms "a failure in industrial democracy," but which turns out to be a very different matter, namely, the abandonment by a single textile corporation of the so-called Leitch plan of employe representation in the management.

The Leitch plan provides for an imitation civil government within each plant, comprising a house of representatives chosen by the employes, a senate composed of the foremen, and an executive officer, representing the owners of the business. The representatives have an opportunity, free, except as they may be hampered by misgivings as to possible personal consequences of advocating policies unacceptable to the employer, to discuss working conditions, wages, etc., on the basis of such information regarding the affairs of the concern as the management sees fit to afford them, and to make recommendations subject to the approval of the foremen and the absolute veto power reserved by the representative of the owners.

This is interesting and ingenious, but it is not democracy. The plant where it is adopted is still an industrial autocracy, and its success or failure in the plant will mainly depend upon whether or no the manager, himself, is a benevolent autocrat or is governed by a shortsighted selfishness in his dealing with his industrial subjects. If the former, this mock parliament may give him highly valuable means of getting at the viewpoint of his employes and of convincing them that his interests are identical with their own. If the latter, his employes will naturally soon tire of mock sessions that get them nowhere, and of a scheme that on the other hand tends to cut them off from the sympathy and support of their fellow-workers in other plants. For the main objection after all to shop representation plans in general is that they are not compatible with efficiency in collective bargaining, which with all its drawbacks has so far done quite as much as anything else to make plutocracy in industry tolerable to the masses of the employed.

Moreover, it is never possible for one unit in an industry, or for one industry in a community, to raise its wages or conditions of employment materially above the level of its fellows. Here as elsewhere, in the long run, union is strength, and isolation invites economic as well as political oppression.

Leaving out of consideration for the moment the few cases like the Rochdale co-operative association which are genuine democracies and which as such have achieved a wonderful degree of success, it may fairly be said of industrial democracy, as of Christianity, that it is too soon to charge it with failure since it has not yet been tried on a scale large enough to justify a general verdict.

Alleged Jury Corruption

We hope that District Attorney O'Brien will leave no stone unturned in his investigation of the alleged corruption of the jury in the telephone payroll robbery.

Our jury system is one of the pillars of the structure of our liberty. It is practically the main support of that part of our liberty which is personal.

It is true that the jury system would be better than any other system, even if the juries were frequently corrupted. But corruption impairs one of the great supports of our liberty.

Now that we have in this community two great street railways in public hands, we have that motive removed for the control of our juries.

So there is today very little excuse for permitting juries to be frequently corrupted. The conviction of one juryman and a stiff sentence would go a long way toward curing this evil. The conviction of the man or men who conspire to corrupt a jury, and a still more severe sentence, would go even farther.

Let the District Attorney pursue his investigation to the end, and show no mercy if he finds anyone guilty.

NOTED WAR CAT IS DEAD

LONDON, July 5.—The famous Belgian cat, "Mons," has died at his home at Forfar. During the retreat from Mons on the night of August 22, Private Bradley, of Glasgow, found the cat in an old farmhouse near St. Quentin, and it was promptly christened "Mons."

The cat had a remarkable record. It went through six heavy engagements, including Hill 60, where Bradley was wounded. The soldier stuck to his pet and took it to Chester Hospital.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

On Slackers

Editor Boston American:

The newspapers of the past week have given an inkling as to the rank injustices that have been perpetrated in dealing with draft evaders and slackers. A man posing as a woman and as the wife of another man succeeded with little difficulty in getting both himself and the other man exempted from military service in the late war. There were plenty of young men with a wife, children or other dependents who were forced to go to war. Why, then, were these two men masquerading as man and wife excused from military service?

Erwin Bergdoll has just been released from the penitentiary only to be arrested again and all because he openly expressed himself against America's involvement in the World War, as thousands of others have done.

Many people were interested in getting into the World War for purely personal gain and without any concern in the welfare of the country at large. The point is that if draft slackers are to be dealt with they should all be dealt with alike, the financial slackers as well. PAINE W. EVERLY.

Living on Charity

Editor Helping Hand:

I have three children, eght, five and five months. I have been working since baby was six weeks old, but had to give it up, as the doctors in the hospital told me I had tuberculosis. My husband has not worked since last December. I was told by my landlord that I would have to move or pay the rent. I wonder if the Helping Hand would be able to find me some light work, such as washing glass and silver, for afternoons, as I am at present living on charity. MRS. A. T.

Offers Toys

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of R. A. M. for old toys, as I have a few things. Also have a few things for some man, size 36, and a lot of magazines called "The Carpenter," for a man who is interested in wood-working, also farm journals and stockings for rugs. MRS. I. E. P.

Thank you. The addresses of R. A. M. and of a man who needs the clothing you mention have been sent you. The magazines and stockings will be held for replies.

Desses for Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

Please send me the address of the little girl who gave her initials in your paper as C. H. and her age as fourteen, as I have a few dresses, etc., which I think will help her.

M. H. G.

C. H. has received so many offers that I think the things you mention will do more good for someone else. You have been sent the address of F. M., who is also fourteen and in need of clothes.

THE HELPING HAND

Do Not Inclose Stamps. Letters Will Not Be Answered Personally. No Attention Paid to Telephone Calls. No Names Are Published.

In case you should still be interested in C. H., you have been sent her address also. Thank you.

Offers More Help

Editor Helping Hand:

Just a word of praise for your wonderful column. I wrote before and sent a box of clothing to a worthy family and received a nice letter of thanks. Here is a list I have for someone else. Just send me the name and address, and I will send the box prepaid. May the Helping Hand go onward in its splendid work.

MRS. E. M. J.

Thank you for both the offer and the praise, although we think you deserve the latter more than we. You have been sent the name of a family greatly in need of the things you mention in the list.

Things for Baby

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a few things for a baby about ten months old; would be glad to send them to someone who needs them. D. R. C.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of A. M. Y., who has a baby that age.

For Man and Girl

Editor Helping Hand:

I have the following articles which might help some needy person. Man's Winter overcoat and man's light overcoat, size 40. Clothes for a girl twelve to fourteen, and also hats. If not too far away I would take them in car.

H. E. S.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of a family who will be very grateful for these things.

Clothes for L. A. E.

Editor Helpnig Hand:

Kindly send me the address of L. A. E., as I have a few clothes which I would be only too glad to send to her, as they are from sizes 38 to 44. Also the address of someone who would like good books to read. I only wish I could help all those in need, but have no children, so cannot give any small clothes.

MRS. T. H. C.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of L. A. E. The books will be held for replies.

Clothes for Family

Editor Helping Hand:

I have three large bundles of clothes for a family where there are a number of them of different ages. They would have to have something to carry them here as they would be too heavy. I am a widow myself with a family of seven children. MRS. T. 2.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. C. 3. who has six girls in need of clothing.

Would Work for Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

You are doing so much good, you may be able to help me a little. My husband has not been well for four years, and for a year he did not work at all. He is under the doctor's care now, as is my little girl, seven. I have two boys, one five and one three, all of whom need clothes. The little girl and one boy take a 10½ shoe and the other an 8 or 8½. If anyone could help me with clothes for them, I would be willing to some work when I am able. MRS. S. K.

Girl Needs Work

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a girl fifteen and would like to work at anything at all. I go to Summer school mornings, but can work from 12:30, minding babes or anything to make a little money to buy some Winter clothes. MISS H. C.

RAINBOW DOUGHBOYS ENTERTAIN AN OLD BUDDY

By Herbert Kaufman

GENERAL GOURAUD, blood brother and corps commander of the Rainbow Division in the Champagne offensive, arrives in New York as guest of his doughboys.

Study his photographs and see the type of man it takes to manage a victorious army.

Military genius is a rare thing, and this Frenchman is one of the dozen real strategists of the time.

Mere chance made him a soldier. Those features indicate the litterateur, the artist, the student. But modern warfare requires just such qualities of imagination and intelligence.

Gouraud's job demands a brain saturated with information of a thousand diverse sorts—familiar with all the resources of science, of transport, of engineering, of mechanics—able to visualize the last detail of commissary, hygiene, sanitation, medical care, and, above all, adept in mass psychology.

To all this must be added the gift of swift decision, a psychic sense of crises, and the power to inspire men with invincible confidence and utter disregard of consequences.

General Gouraud wears every medal which attests valor and competence. But his proudest decoration is an empty sleeve. A Turkish shell shattered his arm at the Dardanelles. They offered him choice of a year in the hospitals and a saved limb, or prompt amputation and a return to the field after a month. "Chop it off," he said, "and let me get back to my work."

And the New York Stock Exchange thought to confer honor upon this person by permitting him to walk across the trading floor.

Let's go the whole hog now and make him a Tall Cedar of Lebanon.

They'll All Boast but Pershing.

The General was especially interested in the Woolworth Building, and amazed to learn that the outstanding structure of Manhattan was built by nickels and dimes.

As he journeys about the country, local guides will make a point of demonstrating the big scale on which we run things over here. Then he'll go to Washington and hear still more nickel-and-dime talk.

Pershing will tell him how the cheese-parers of Congress, after authorizing a piddling force of 290,000 troops, have so cut army budgets that another year will leave less than 100,000 regulars to command.

Secretary Weeks, for all his canvassing, can't sell the Capitol a National Life Insurance policy.

Later, though, we'll buy it at a premium that shall again stagger history.

A Twenty-two Billion Dollar Spur.

Experience teaches us little. Our brilliant statesmen wouldn't read manifest signs in 1916. Nothing was going to happen. We'd not be involved—which explains why the treasury debt is $22,400,000,000 today.

Governments can't pause to haggle and count costs when sovereignty at stake.

They may only bribe clocks, squander the substance of generations, submit to any terms profiteering manufacturers and bankers choose to impose.

The last minute is a merciless gouger. Delay plunges into criminally wasteful aeroplane and shipbuilding programs, wildly overestimates automobile and equipment requirements, and then saddles decades with the indefensible wastage. Reasonable precaution, no matter what we spend, won't dig into our means a tenth as hard as the spur of the moment.

How to Earn $100,000.

World educators meet at San Francisco and propose to teach the entire universe its three R's by 1935.

Mr. Bok, who offers $100,000 for a plan by which we may be associated with other powers in perpetuating peace, would doubtless be willing to bestow an equal prize on the genius who will even teach our own illiterates how to read and write by that time.

Dr. Winship, editor of the Journal of Education, discovers a rotten state of affairs in his particular Denmark.

We are informed that there isn't a book on physics, electricity or astronomy—a work on geography, industry or commerce, which is fit for classroom use, if published in the last years.

Which isn't reassuring news for those of us who haven't been trailing late developments.

Brush up or drop back. Yesterday is a discredited tutor.

Some Things That Can't Be Done.

A York State farmer swaps one grown daughter, a younger girl, and his only son for a horse, two calves, some clothes, and a dollar and thirty-six cents.

His wife got the dollar and thirty-six cents. Courts are about to instruct the parties to the transaction on certain fundamentals of Americanism. Human beings aren't salable chattels hereabouts.

Six more San Quentin prisoners are placed under the influence of acopolamin and blurt their innermost secrets in the presence of wardens and assistant district attorneys.

It might occur to the gentlemen of the law that they are possibly invading invested constitutional rights. No man may be compelled to bear witness against himself.

Prophecy misses its guess if a prompt stop isn't put to these experiments. Inquisition by drug or fire is not a democratic institution.

Following Presidential Advice.

They do not, however, promise to pass the savings on to the consumer.

Mr. Harding's recommendation to eliminate middlemen is also adopted by the promoters of a chain of eating houses and bakeries, who propose to sell single shares of stock to organized labor and clerks, and co-operatively divide all profits among patrons pro rata to their purchase of meal checks.

Where there's a will there's a way to beat the cost of living around the stump.
